Only Eleven Went Away But Kingston Showed Its Appreciation And Best Wishes By Rousing Send-off.

Men who went away:

DIVISION NO. 1.

Harry Richter,
Peter Simpson,
John J. Mooney,

Joseph E. Smith,
Paul Ernest Topp,
John James Norton,
Fred Worden.

DIVISION NO. 2.

John P. Bostel,
Herman Hendricks,
Thomas F. McCullough.

ENTRAINED AT SAUGERTIES.

Simon Plotnick,
William Francis Igo.

With one of the biggest demonstrations of the war, Kingston gave the eleven boys who entrained for Fort Slocum this morning a rousing send-off. Not only was the parade one of the biggest so far, but there was a large crowd lining the streets and at the station to bid the boys goodbye. So accustomed has Kingston become to sending off men to training camps that there was not a hitch in the entire program and the police arrangements at the West Shore station were such that a big open square was kept clear of the crowd so that the boys could entrain in comfort. Chief Wood and his men deserve great credit for the way in which they handled the big crowd.

Early this morning the boys of the New National Army gathered at the office of the local board for Division No. 1 in the surrogate's office, where they received their last instructions and the roll was called.

DIVISION ONE ALL THERE.

The seven boys from Division No. 1 were all present when the roll was called. In addition to the seven men from Kingston was included Fred Worden, a local boy who had been working in Binghamton when he registered last June and who had been transferred by the Binghamton board to the local board of Division No. 1. He was also equipped with a comfort kit. The detail was in charge of Harry Richter and his aide was John James Norton.

GIVEN 10 DAYS FOR HONEYMOON.

Only three of the seven men from Division No. 2 entrained at Kingston. Two of the seven entrained at Saugerties and two were given an extension of time.

Lewis Palmatier Rugar of Highland was granted an extension of ten days so that he could enjoy his honeymoon. On Tuesday of this week he was united in marriage to Miss Ruth Wager at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Beal, in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Rugar knew that he would be called at some time in the near future but had no idea that he would be sent away so early, and was married before he received his notice to report for today's entrainment for Fort Slocum.

Under these circumstances the local board decided to give him an extension of ten days to enjoy his honeymoon. At the expiration of that time he will be sent on to Fort Slocum.

WILL GO SUNDAY.

Alfred Dailey of Kerhonkson, who is employed in Connecticut, found it impossible to reach Kingston in time to entrain this morning and so telegraphed Local Board No. 2, which extended his time until Sunday. Mr. Dailey will reach Kingston Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will then proceed to Fort Slocum.

TWO AT SAUGERTIES.

Simon Plotnick of Glasco and William Francis Igo of Saugerties entrained at Saugerties where they were tendered a send-off.

FAIR BUT CHILLY.

With the rays of Old Sol helping somewhat to warm the air the various divisions of the big parade began to form at the appointed places some time before the fire alarm gave the signal to start. Here and there in the lineup were seen straw hats, while a few wore light top coats.

The day was ideal for marching and the chill was dispelled when the parade got under way and the marchers swung down Albany avenue and into Broadway, keeping step to the lively strains of our national songs.

A HUSKY "BUNCH."

The boys for Fort Slocum were a husky bunch and while all of them realized the seriousness of the work cut out for them when they reach camp, they wore gay smiles as they looked eagerly forward to the Great Adventure, and as they lined up just before the parade started they exchanged gay quips with acquaintances or shook hands with friends who pressed eagerly forward.

A YOUTHFUL SOLDIER.

Clad in khaki uniform, little Girard Deabue, five years old, of East Strand, clasped the hand of Joseph E. Smith, one of the boys from Kingston for Fort Slocum, and marched sturdily by his side to the station, where he gravely said goodbye to Private Smith.

"OVER THERE."

As the parade swung down Broadway and approached the

ULSTER'S BOYS MAY GO TO SPARTANBURG

Adjutant General Announces Ulster's Quota For Entrainment Beginning May 25 Is 189 Men--Second Call For National Army.

The Adjutant General's office at Albany on Friday made public the quotas of various counties for men for the second call for the National Army for five days beginning Saturday, May 25.

The men called at this time will be sent to Camp Upton, Camp Hancock, Ga., Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg S. C., and Camp Sevier, S. C. Local boards of Ulster county have not yet been notified of the number of men they will be required to entrain, but an announcement received several days ago from the Adjutant General was to the effect that Division No. 1 would be called on for approximately 65 men and Division No. 2 for approximately 38 men about May 25.

A table of county quotas shows Ulster county's quota for the five days' period will be 189 men, which would make the quota of Division No. 8 66 men.

It is expected that all up-state men north of New York city as far as the Canadian border and through the Mohawk Valley to Utica will go to Spartanburg, a total of 9,700 men.

station, the band, headed by James S. Barber, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, swung into the strains of "Over There," the song by George M. Cohan, which bids fair to equal in popularity as a war song, "There's be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," which was sung by the soldiers during the war with Spain. The tune was unconsciously hummed by the marchers as they kept step to its lively strains.

FEW TEARS AND FEW CHEERS.

As has been noted in other demonstrations, there were but few cheers along the line of march, probably due to the fact that the big crowd realized that it was a serious moment in the lives of the boys who were leaving, as well as in the lives of those who were left behind.

At the station only a few tear stained faces were in evidence for everyone seemed to bear in mind the words of that other war song, "Send Me Away With a Smile."

TRAIN ON TIME.

Owing to the fact that the detail sent away this time was not as large as the previous details, no special car was assigned the boys, but their luggage was piled in the last car. As the parade approached the Broadway crossing the marchers swung to either side, forming a line through which marched the band, followed by the fathers of the boys and then by the boys themselves.

As the boys passed the marchers uncovered and stood at attention.

At the station there was but little time to say goodbye, as the train pulled in on time.

STOCK & CORDTS CARRIED LUGGAGE.

The big auto truck of the firm of Stock & Cordts carried the luggage to the station where it was attended to by Fire Commissioner Lahl, who has performed similar service for all the other boys.

FRUIT AND SMOKES.

Alderman Mann as usual had a consignment of fruit on hand for the boys to eat on the trip, and they were also presented with smokes by friends.

The boys had hardly entered the car and leaned out of the windows to catch a glimpse of relatives and friends, when the signal was given and the train pulled out.

As the train pulled out of the station the band played "The Star Spangled Banner," while Company M stood at attention and the big crowd stood with uncovered heads. As the train passed the boys waved their hands goodbye and the crowd waved hats in the air and gave them a parting cheer.

NO DISORDER.

Due to the police arrangements of Chief Wood and the detail of men he had on the job, there was absolutely no disorder to mar the occasion.

PARADE FORMATION.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock when the various organizations began to form for the parade and promptly at the fire alarm signal the parade swung down Main street, to Clinton avenue, to Albany avenue, to Broadway and Railroad avenue, headed by D. G. Atkins, grand marshal. In the first division was the committee of arrangements, Bailey Fife and Drum Corps, Company M, Pratt Post, Spanish War Veterans, Tappen Camp, Ladies' Auxiliary of Tappen Camp, and Boy and Girl Scouts.

CARRIED HONOR FLAG.

The honor flag awarded Kingston for going over the top in the Third Liberty Loan drive was carried by the Boy Scouts.

SECOND DIVISION.

The second division included the clergy, lawyers, doctors, dentists, city and county officials, employees and citizens, and business men of the city, and a big turnout of high school boys and girls with Superintendent Michael and members of the board of education.

Superintendent Mahar and his large force of Prudential Insurance agents turned out and made an imposing showing.

THE THIRD DIVISION.

The third division was made up of the Colonial City Band, headed by James S. Barber, who went away with Company M during the Spanish war, and who has acted as drum major in all of the demonstrations given our boys so far, following which came the local boards for Divisions No. 1 and 2, and the boys who went away.

AS BIG AS ANY.

The demonstration this morning was as big, and in some respects larger, than previous demonstrations.

It was a fitting send-off for the boys who left today and who may in a short time be next heard from "Over There."

The sun very seldom shines and we have plenty of rain. Don't worry, mother, as we are all well and happy. We had some fine trip on the big brook, and I was only sick a little over a day, but did not miss anychow; was on deck about all the time and saw lots of jelly fish. This is certainly some pretty place, fine gardens and fields of grain. The French people use us fine. Mother, if you send anything to me, send tobacco, as we cannot get any here.

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

When Von Hindenburg renews his long deferred offensive on the western front it is not improbable that the Americans who are fighting with the French on the Picardy battle line, will have to bear the brunt of heavy infantry thrusts.

All reports—both official and unofficial—dwell upon the fury of the cannonades along the Picardy fighting front.

General Pershing's seasoned veterans, who are fighting in Picardy, hold part of the line southeast of Amiens, occupying a sector that saw tremendous German pressure during the early days of the drive when the Germans were trying to break through to Amiens by splitting the junction of the British and French armies between Montdidier and the Somme river.

The Americans are just southwest of Montdidier, at a point where the German salient bends sharply eastward.

The Germans are holding strong reserve forces north and south of the Somme river and it is generally agreed by European military experts that the German high command will assault the Allied lines defending Amiens as well as striking to the north on the Flanders front.

There have been only minor operations on the Flanders front during the past 24 hours but they terminated to the advantage of the Allies.

The French attacked northeast of Loere and extended their lines, while British forces threw back a group of Germans that were trying to penetrate the British lines east of Ypres.

The continued improvement of the Allied positions around Loere bodes ill for the German efforts when Hindenburg resumes his attempts to break the Franco-British grip upon the line of hills in that sector.

Loere, which lies about six miles southwest of Ypres, just inside of the Belgian frontier, is south of Mount Ronge and just west of Kemmel Hill. Since it was captured by the French the French forces have been striking a series of small but persistent blows against the Germans, driving the Germans from strategic high ground they had occupied.

The Loere-LaClytte-Vorrenzele line was the scene of gigantic defeat administered to the Germans about three weeks ago.

The Allies now have complete domination of the air in both battle zones. The number of German airplanes shot down has been averaging 45 a day.

Since the German offensive opened on March 21 it is estimated that about 1,000 German aircraft have been destroyed by Allied airmen.

In speaking last week of the Skillypot, the little, old ferry boat, that crosses the creek at Rondout, we neglected to say what Skillypot meant. The word is Dutch and means tortoise. The tortoise is locally misnamed "turtle." The name is very appropriate.—New Paltz Independent.

GIVEN 10 DAYS FOR HONEYMOON.

Only three of the seven men from Division No. 2 entrained at Kingston. Two of the seven entrained at Saugerties and two were given an extension of time.

Lewis Palmatier Rugar of Highland was granted an extension of ten days so that he could enjoy his honeymoon. On Tuesday of this week he was united in marriage to Miss Ruth Wager at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Beal, in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Rugar knew that he would be called at some time in the near future but had no idea that he would be sent away so early, and was married before he received his notice to report for today's entrainment for Fort Slocum.

Under these circumstances the local board decided to give him an extension of ten days to enjoy his honeymoon. At the expiration of that time he will be sent on to Fort Slocum.

WILL GO SUNDAY.

Alfred Dailey of Kerhonkson, who is employed in Connecticut, found it impossible to reach Kingston in time to entrain this morning and so telegraphed Local Board No. 2, which extended his time until Sunday. Mr. Dailey will reach Kingston Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will then proceed to Fort Slocum.

TWO AT SAUGERTIES.

Simon Plotnick of Glasco and William Francis Igo of Saugerties entrained at Saugerties where they were tendered a send-off.

ULSTER'S BOYS MAY GO TO SPARTANBURG

Adjutant General Announces Ulster's Quota For Entrainment Beginning May 25 Is 189 Men--Second Call For National Army.

The Adjutant General's office at Albany on Friday made public the quotas of various counties for men for the second call for the National Army for five days beginning Saturday, May 25.

The men called at this time will be sent to Camp Upton, Camp Hancock, Ga., Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg, S. C., and Camp Sevier, S. C. Local boards of Ulster county have not yet been notified of the number of men they will be required to entrain, but an announcement received several days ago from the Adjutant General was to the effect that Division No. 1 would be called on for approximately 65 men and Division No. 2 for approximately 34 men about May 25.

A table of county quotas shows Ulster county's quota for the five days' period will be 189 men, which would make the quota of Division No. 1 65 men.

It is expected that all up-state men north of New York city as far as the Canadian border and through the Mohawk Valley to Utica will go to Spartanburg, a total of 9,700 men.

station, the band, headed by James S. Barber, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, swung into the strains of "Over There," the song by George M. Cohan, which bids fair to equal in popularity as a war song. "There's be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," which was sung by the soldiers during the war with Spain. The tune was unconsciously hummed by the marchers as they kept step to its lively strains.

FEW TEARS AND FEW CHEERS.

As has been noted in other demonstrations, there were but few cheers along the line of march, probably due to the fact that the big crowd realized that it was a serious moment in the lives of the boys who were leaving, as well as in the lives of those who were left behind.

At the station only a few tear stained faces were in evidence for everyone seemed to bear in mind the words of that other war song, "Send Me Away With a Smile."

TRAIN ON TIME.

Owing to the fact that the detail sent away this time was not as large as the previous details, no special car was assigned the boys, but their luggage was piled in the last car. As the parade approached the Broadway crossing the marchers swung to either side, forming a line through which marched the band, followed by the fathers of the boys and then by the boys themselves.

As the boys passed the marchers uncovered and stood at attention.

At the station there was but little time to say goodbye, as the train pulled in on time.

STOCK & CORDTS CARRIED LUGGAGE.

The big auto truck of the firm of Stock & Cordts carried the luggage to the station where it was attended to by Fire Commissioner Lahl, who has performed similar service for all the other boys.

FRUIT AND SMOKES.

Alderman Mann as usual had a consignment of fruit on hand for the boys to eat on the trip, and they were also presented with smokes by friends.

The boys had hardly entered the car and leaned out of the windows to catch a glimpse of relatives and friends, when the signal was given and the train pulled out.

As the train pulled out of the station the band played "The Star Spangled Banner," while Company M stood at attention and the big crowd stood with uncovered heads. As the train passed the boys waved their hands goodbye and the crowd waved hats in the air and gave them a parting cheer.

NO DISORDER.

Due to the police arrangements of Chief Wood and the detail of men he had on the job, there was absolutely no disorder to mar the occasion.

PARADE FORMATION.

It was shortly after 8 o'clock when the various organizations began to form for the parade and promptly at the fire alarm signal the parade swung down Main street, to Clinton avenue, to Albany avenue, to Broadway and Railroad avenue, headed by D. G. Atkins, grand marshal. In the first division was the committee of arrangements, Bailey Fife and Drum Corps, Company M, Pratt Post, Spanish War Veterans, Tappen Camp, Ladies' Auxiliary of Tappen Camp, and Boy and Girl Scouts.

CARRIED HONOR FLAG.

The honor flag awarded Kingston for going over the top in the Third Liberty Loan drive was carried by the Boy Scouts.

SECOND DIVISION.

The second division included the clergy, lawyers, doctors, dentists, city and county officials, employees and citizens, and business men of the city, and a big turnout of high school boys and girls with Superintendent Michael and members of the board of education.

Superintendent Mahar and his large force of Prudential Insurance agents turned out and made an imposing showing.

THE THIRD DIVISION.

The third division was made up of the Colonial City Band, headed by James S. Barber, who went away with Company M during the Spanish war, and who has acted as drum major in all of the demonstrations given our boys so far, following which came the local boards for Divisions No. 1 and 2, and the boys who went away.

AS BIG AS ANY.

The demonstration this morning was as big, and in some respects larger, than previous demonstrations.

It was a fitting send-off for the boys who left today and who may in a short time be next heard from "Over There."

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

When Von Hindenburg renews his long deferred offensive on the western front it is not improbable that the Americans who are fighting with the French on the Picardy battle line, will have to bear the brunt of heavy infantry thrusts.

All reports—both official and unofficial—dwell upon the fury of the cannonades along the Picardy fighting front.

General Pershing's seasoned veterans, who are fighting in Picardy, hold part of the line southwest of Amiens, occupying a sector that saw tremendous German pressure during the early days of the drive when the Germans were trying to break through to Amiens, by splitting the junction of the British and French armies between Montdidier and the Somme river.

The Americans are just southwest of Montdidier, at a point where the German salient bends sharply eastward.

The Germans are holding strong reserve forces north and south of the Somme river and it is generally agreed by European military experts that the German high command will assault the Allied lines defending Amiens as well as striking to the north on the Flanders front.

There have been only minor operations on the Flanders front during the past 24 hours but they terminated to the advantage of the Allies.

The French attacked northeast of Loere and extended their lines, while British forces threw back a group of Germans that were trying to penetrate the British lines east of Ypres.

The continued improvement of the Allied positions around Loere, holds the Germans off from Hindenburg resumes his attempts to break the Franco-British grip upon the line of hills in that sector.

Loere, which lies about six miles southwest of Ypres, just inside of the Belgian frontier, is south of Mount Rouge and just west of Kemmel Hill. Since it was captured by the French the French forces have been striking a series of small but persistent blows against the Germans, driving the Germans from strategic high ground they had occupied.

The Loere-LaClytte-Vorrenzele line was the scene of gigantic defeat administered to the Germans about three weeks ago.

The Allies now have complete domination of the air in both battle zones. The number of German airplanes shot down has been averaging 45 a day.

Since the German offensive opened on March 21 it is estimated that about 1,000 German aircraft have been destroyed by Allied airmen.

FILLING OUT THE BALD-HEADED SQUAD

Private Coughlin Had His Hair Clipped Close in Order to Do So—Other Interesting Army Incidents Abroad.

The following exceedingly interesting letter has just been received from Private Edward Coughlin, of the American Expeditionary Force, now "Somewhere in France":

Somewhere in France, April 11.

After having travelled extensively on my tour, I wound up in an aviation camp "Somewhere in France." I suppose you know of my safe arrival shortly after I had landed, as I wrote you a card when we boarded the ship, and that was to be delivered as soon as a cablegram could be sent, after our ship docked in the foreign port. I think we are permanently settled and hope no further changes take place, as this camp is the peer of all I have seen. Although I like being settled, I really enjoyed every trip we made. The cars we rode in sometimes wouldn't be very inviting on a long journey, but our trips were of short duration, very often.

The passenger cars they accommodated us with had individual sections and seated just eight men, which composes a squad. Owing to the good weather conditions at that time, and the change of scenery involved in every trip, the trip passed very often and every journey was enjoyed by us. We had excellent weather until about April first, but since then between sunshine, rain and fog, I think rain and fog predominates. They claim this is the rainy season, so we look forward to better weather in the near future.

It is sort of a surprise to our ball games once in a while so unpopular on such occasions. Our camp is located just outside a city of considerable size and only takes a short time to drop to town, which we have the liberty to do almost any night until we are ordered to go to town though most of the boys drop in at the Y. M. C. A., which is some popular little hut, and listen to a lecture, see some movies or write letters. Two nights a week are set aside for letter writing, two for lectures, two for movies and one for services which is Sunday. Once in a while a regular stage play takes place on one of the lecture nights, and meets with no disagreeable comment. Tonight we have with us a famous speaker, to dwell on the subject, "Our Flag." I am quite near the stage and feel rather conspicuous from my head up as I've had my hair clipped close, to fill out a bald-headed squad in our company.

Our Y is to be enlarged owing to the popularity it has (and is now under construction) to meet the demands of the crowds that assemble. Boxing bouts will then be exhibited and they always draw a maximum crowd, and as our company has a couple of good representatives, I look forward to completion with impatience to see them in action.

On Sunday morning we have inspection and mess at noon. After that we have the balance of the day to dispose of as we see fit, and usually we take a trip to town and look it over. There are a good many interesting places to visit, that are prominent from an historic point of view and people used to travel a good many miles to see what we have thrust upon us. There is an immense cathedral that displays architectural talent of no mean repute and makes people wonder how in the olden ages such a mammoth building could be constructed with such precision. A good part of these buildings are original and don't look their age.

As we arise at 5 a. m. these glorious mornings and I have listened to one lecture, and it is nearly nine bells, I will say that I am ready to hit the feathers.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) ED. COUGHLIN.

Crops Will be Divided Proportionately Among Them.
By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, May 11.—Employees of the up-state public service commission intend to do all that they possibly can to aid Uncle Sam and his allies in the war against the Kaiser. They have responded to the Liberty loans.

Fourteen of the commission's employees are in the service. Now an army garden is under way. Several acres of land on the farm of F. U. Wilcox, an accountant in the division of statistics and accounts, located at Castleton, a short distance from Albany, will be plowed and placed under cultivation and planted to vegetable crops. Two hours each fair afternoon, after working hours, will be devoted by the employees, male and female, to cultivating the land. Advice has been secured from the state agricultural department. Automobiles of the commission have been commandeered for the work and will be used in taking the farmers and farmerettes to and from work on the farm. It has been arranged that the crops will be divided among the employees in proportion to the time devoted and in addition to the physical benefits and the hours of recreation in pleasant surroundings, they will aid the government in lessening the demand in the fall for the products to be raised.

SOMETHING TO EAT.

Today we are looking for good things that are economical and within the means of the average pocket-book, and at the same time prove satisfying.

Rice Muffins.—Press boiled rice through a potato ricer, add the yolks of three eggs to two cups of rice, one and a half cups of milk, two tablespoons of melted butter, one teaspoonful of salt, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted with one cup of flour. Lastly add the well-beaten whites of three eggs and bake in a quick oven about twenty minutes. Sugar may be added if desired, and if the family is small, half the recipe will be sufficient.

Beet Salad.—Cut small-sized pickled beets in halves, scoop out the center and fill with chopped celery, mix with mayonnaise, place the beet on a lettuce leaf and serve topped with a bit of mayonnaise dressing.

Troy Pudding.—Take a cupful each of stoned raisins, currants, citron, molasses, suet, a half-cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little water, two and a half cups of flour, half a grated nutmeg, a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and ginger, a half-teaspoonful of cloves and one egg. Mix well and steam for three hours.

Cruet.—Take half a pint of sweet milk or one cupful, the same amount of sugar, a fourth of a cupful or four tablespoonfuls of shortening, one beaten egg, three cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg sifted with the flour. Mix well and fry in deep fat. Roll in powdered sugar sprinkled with cinnamon.

Baked Corn With Clams.—Mix a can of mixed clams, a cupful of canned corn, a cupful of milk, one egg well beaten, a cupful of bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, and a little onion juice or onion salt. Mix the butter with the crumbs and sprinkle over the top. Bake one-half hour.

ULSTER CONCERNS DO BIG BUSINESS

Figures Furnished by Commission in Making Awards for Sauergeries Water Powers Indicate Volume of Business of Mills There.

Some idea of the business done by Ulster county concerns may be obtained from the report of Ashokan Damages Commission No. 1, Philip Elling of Kingston, George Deyo of Nanamoch, and Abel I. Smith of New York, an account of which was briefly given in Friday's Freeman.

The damage claims were brought for a decrease in the value of real estate and for water powers on rights derived from the Esopus creek at Sauergeries. The total awards aggregated $335,000.

The Diamond Mills Paper Company claimed $530,000 and was awarded $205,000.

The Martin Cantine Company claimed $500,000 and was awarded $165,000.

The estate of Joseph B. Sheffield claimed $160,000 and was awarded $25,000.

The commission finds that the Diamond Paper Mills owned about five acres of land on the southerly side of the Esopus creek at Sauergeries with large mills located on the property. The plant fronts upon tidalwater near the creek's outlet into the Hudson river. The company is extensively engaged in the manufacture of tissue, parchment, copying, carbon and manifold paper.

The value of its products for the year 1906, prior to the beginning of the construction of the Ashokan reservoir was $88,218.38. In 1915 the value was $217,437.36.

The Cantine Company owns about seven acres on the northerly side of the Esopus creek together with certain water rights and privileges, and also about nine acres on the southerly side of the creek. The company is engaged in the manufacture of surface coating paper. In 1903 the plant turned out about three tons per day of the gross value of about $175,000 per annum, while in 1916 it amounted to about seventy tons a day, valued at $3,000,000.00 per annum.

The Sheffield estate owns about two and a half acres of land with buildings on the southerly side of the Esopus. The property has a frontage of 136 feet on the Esopus at tidalwater. Under an agreement dated September 17, 1902, power for operating the large paper mill was derived from Barclay's dam.

The property was leased to the Sheffield Manufacturing Company in 1915 at an annual rental of $3,500.

All three claims were filed together as they were based on the same situation at Barclay's dam at Sauergeries from which, under agreements, all three concerns derived water power to operate the plants.

Barclay's dam is of wooden construction about 350 feet long with an elevation of about 45 feet above mean tide. It is built upon a ledge about 644 feet upstream from tidalwater in the Esopus.

Bank's Phenomenal Growth.

Patrons of the Roundout National Bank, located on Ferry street, and citizens generally have reason to feel proud of the remarkable growth of this institution under the present efficient management since 1892. On that date its total deposits amounted to $172,320.82 and its total resources were $496,628.62. At the close of business May 10th this year, its deposits were $1,071,735.17 and its resources $1,626,763.17. This is a remarkable showing and indicates the enviable place this financial institution holds in the community and the confidence of its growing list of patrons.

Words Frequently Misspelled.

Note from the Outlook: "What words are most frequently misspelled in the papers? Two candidates for the honor have good claims. 'Haley'—'hailed into court'—often appears as 'hailed.' 'Identify' for some curious reason, is frequently printed 'identifiy.' 'Superceded,' 'ecstasy' and 'develop' might receive honorable mention in the list."

"Mind" and "Body."

An English writer, Prof. L. T. Hobhouse, remarks that the "mind" of a nation is a real agency and he suggests there is an analogy in the human body which is the result of vital processes going on in a myriad of independent cells. The body is not another cell. It is something more than all the cells that compose it.

Well Adapted for Its Work.

Speaking of necks, could you imagine one better suited to the habits of its owner than that of the hog? The hog roots in the ground for its food—in the wild state. Its neck must be thick and stout for shoving the snout into the earth. So the neck of the hog is built exactly as it should be built for enabling the animal to carry its snout along the ground in picking up or rooting up its food supply.

So Picture Won't Fall.

When hanging pictures always hang them with the face to the wall at first, then turn them without unhooking the wire. This leaves the wire twisted up at the hook, and when hung this way the jarring of the house will have no effect on them.

Natural Butter.

Shea butter, the reddish oil of the West African shade tree, is one of several vegetable butters that are of unusual interest to makers of margarine, chocolate, candles, and soap. The sweet and wholesome pulp of the nut is much prized by the natives, and is said to be nearly two-thirds butter. The tree, beginning to bear its crop of nuts when about 15 years old, reaches its prime at the age of about twenty-five.

BALD-HEADED SQUAD

Private Coughlin Had His Hair Clipped Close in Order to Do So—Other Interesting Army Incidents Abroad.

The following exceedingly interesting letter has just been received from Private Edward Coughlin, of the American Expeditionary Force, now "Somewhere in France."

Somewhere in France, April 11.

Dear Sir: After having travelled extensively on my tour, I would up in an aviation camp "Somewhere in France."

I suppose you know of my safe arrival shortly after I had landed, as I wrote you a card when we boarded the ship, and that was to be delivered as soon as a cablegram could be sent.

After our ship docked in her foreign port, I think we are permanently settled and hope no further changes take place, as this camp is the peer of all I have seen.

Although I like being settled, I really enjoyed every trip we made. The cars we rode in sometimes wouldn't be very inviting on a long journey, but our trips were of short duration very often.

The passenger cars they accommodated us with had individual sections and seated just eight men, which composes a squad. Owing to the good weather conditions at that time, and the change of scenery involved in every trip, the time passed quickly and every journey was enjoyed by us.

We had excellent weather until about April first, but since then between sunshine, rain and fog, I think rain and fog predominates. They claim this is the rainy season, so we look forward to better weather in the near future. It sort of spoils our ball games once in a while so it is unpopular on such occasions.

Our camp is located just outside a city of considerable size and only takes a short time to drop to town, which we have the liberty to do almost any night until 10 o'clock. Instead of going to town though, most of the boys drop in at the Y. M. C. A., which is some popular little hut, and listen to a lecture, see some movies or write letters.

Two nights a week are set aside for letter writing, two for lectures, two for movies and one for services, which is Sunday. Once in a while a regular stage play takes place on one of the lecture nights, and meets with no disagreeable comment.

Tonight we have with us a famous speaker, to dwell on the subject, "Our Flag." I am quite near the stage and feel rather conspicuous from my head up, as I've had my hair clipped close, to fill out a bald-headed squad in our company.

Our Y is to be enlarged owing to the popularity it has (and is now under construction) to meet the demands of the crowds that assemble. Boxing bouts will then be exhibited and they always draw a maximum crowd, and as our company has a couple of good representatives, I look forward to completion with impatience to see them in action.

On Sunday morning we have inspection and mass at noon. After that we have the balance of the day to dispose of as we see fit, and usually we take a trip to town and look it over. There are a good many interesting places to visit that are different from an historic point of view and people used to travel a good many miles to see what we have thrust upon us. There is an immense cathedral that displays architectural talent that makes people wonder how in the olden ages such a mammoth building could be constructed with such precision. A good part of these buildings are original and don't look their age.

As as arise at 5 a. m. these glorious mornings and I have listened to one lecture, and it is nearly nine bells. I will say that I am ready to bit the feathers.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) ED. COUGHLIN.Passed On.

EMPLOYEES TRY FARMING.

Crops Will Be Divided Proportionately Among Them.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, May 11.—Employees of the up-state public service commission intend to do all that they possibly can to aid Uncle Sam and his allies in the war against the kaiser. They have responded to the Liberty loans.

Fourteen of the commission's employees are in the service. Now an army garden is under way. Several acres of land on the farm of F. U. Wilcox, an accountant in the division of statistics and accounts, located at Castleton, a short distance from Albany, will be plowed and placed under cultivation and planted to vegetable crops. Two hours each afternoon, after working hours, will be devoted by the employees, male and female, to cultivating the land.

Advice has been secured from the state agricultural department. Automobiles of the commission have been commandeered for the work and will be used in taking the farmers and farmerettes to and from work on the farm. It has been arranged that the crops will be divided among the employees in proportion to the time devoted and in addition to the physical benefits and the hours of recreation in pleasant surroundings, they will aid the government in lessening the demand in the fall for the products to be raised.

SOMETHING TO EAT.

Today we are looking for good things that are economical and within the means of the average pocket book, and at the same time prove satisfying.

Rice soufflé.—Press boiled rice through a potato ricer, add the yolks of three eggs to two cups of rice, one and a half cups of milk, two tablespoons of melted butter, one teaspoonful of salt, and two teaspoonsful of baking powder sifted with one cup of flour. Lastly add the well-beaten whites of three eggs and bake in a quick oven about twenty minutes. Sugar may be added if desired, and if the family is small, half the recipe will be sufficient.

Beet Salad.—Cut small-sized pickled beets in halves, scoop out the center and fill with chopped celery, mix with mayonnaise, place the beet on a lettuce leaf and serve topped with a bit of mayonnaise dressing.

Trey Pudding.—Take a cupful each of stoned raisins, currants, citron, molasses, ruet, a half-cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little water, two and a half cups of flour, half a grated nutmeg, a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and ginger, a half-teaspoonful of cloves and one egg. Mix well and steam for three hours.

Croutons.—Take half a pint of sweet milk or one cupful, the same amount of sugar, a fourth of a cupful or four tablespoonsful of shortening, one beaten egg, three cups of flour, two teaspoonsful of baking powder, a teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg sifted with the flour. Mix well and fry in deep fat. Roll in powdered sugar sprinkled with cinnamon.

Baked Corn With Clams.—Mix a can of minced clams, a cupful of canned corn, a cupful of milk, one egg well beaten, a cupful of bread crumbs, two tablespoonsful of butter, a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika, and a little onion juice or onion salt. Mix the butter with the crumbs and sprinkle over the top. Bake one-half hour.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 11, 1918.

There is an old story of a white man and an American Indian who, going hunting together, killed a turkey and a buzzard. When the game was to be divided the white man said: "I'll take the turkey and you take the buzzard, or you take the buzzard and I'll take the turkey." Whereupon the Indian ventured to observe that there was no turkey for him in either case. This story is called to mind by the Kaiser's manumission demand of the Bolsheviks that they deliver up to him able-bodied German prisoners of war in exchange for diseased and crippled Russian prisoners in Germany. The Kaiser is determined to have all the turkey there is and will refuse to be denied—until somebody comes forward strong enough to force him to eat crow.

WE MUST PAY THE PRICE.

The figures for war finance take ones breath away. Says the author of the income tax: "Despite the prediction of experts four years ago that it would be utterly impossible for the most important commercial nations to finance a war of this magnitude for any but a very brief time, the great expenditures have piled up in excess of $100,000,000,000—a cost to every man, woman and child on the globe of more than $60." Not even in the warring countries have every man, woman and child contributed their per capita share, let alone throughout the world, yet the stupendous sum has been raised, the mere interest on which, if levied as a poll tax on each inhabitant of the globe, would be one cent per working day per person. Where have the hundreds of billions come from? Whence will come the twice, three or 10 times a hundred billions that may be necessary to finish the revolting but imperatively necessary business. Any amount necessary will be raised, of course, because it will have to be. Liberty has always come high, and now that scientific barbarians with a dream of world-domination in their stubborn Teutonic heads are running amuck it comes higher than ever before. But we must pay the price whatever it be; for if the scientific savages are allowed to tread the life out of liberty, the world will become a desolation literally unfit to live in.

EAT THEM AND PLANT THEM.

We are urged to eat potatoes very industriously for a while, not only in order to save bread or wheat but because the market is full of last year's crop and the old potatoes ought to be disposed of before the new ones come out of the ground. In other words, we need to help the overstocked potato planters and dealers as well as to have wheat for shipment to our Allies. So far as possible the request ought to be complied with and to do so will involve no hardship, for the white potato is an excellent staple food and can be served in many ways. Fried potatoes, stewed potatoes, baked potatoes, potatoes in soup, in hash, and browned in the pan—the list is almost endless. To eat another potato instead of another slice of bread will neither put a strain upon your palate nor deny your body the nourishment it needs or craves, and it will help the great cause.

But while we are patriotically eating up the present stock of potatoes, let us see to it that there shall be another large stock to be eaten up at this time next year. Let us not make the mistake of planting a smaller crop. Last year at this time potatoes were scarce enough to be worth almost their weight in gold. Then the country went to work and planted a bumper crop, thus providing our present abundance. Many farmers are now likely to cut their acreage, but let the amateur gardeners and back-lot planters again make sure of a good acreage of this valuable and easily-grown crop; for, if they do not, next spring may find them once more paying sinful prices for a staff of life. Eat all the potatoes you can and plant all you can, too.

DISLOYALTY IN THE SCHOOLS.

The arguments of some of the advocates of teaching German in our schools very much resemble the intellectual contortions of those music-mad persons who, excited over the arrest of Dr. Karl Muck, virtually contend that art is above patriotism.

The teaching of German, as of French and Spanish, for scientific or other definite purposes is not the question. German may well be taught for such purposes under special conditions, and it ought to be taught very industriously to those preparing to employ it with a view to a better understanding of and for the requirement of important information about our enemy. The real question at issue is the teaching of German as a regular course in the lower schools, often to the exclusion of other languages.

Senator Young of Iowa has shown very clearly that actual disloyalty is promoted in the German belts of the Northwest if not in the Northwest generally by the use of German as the exclusive language in the lower schools. The revelations of Mr. Metcalf as to the disloyalty of the German schools in Nebraska are also of interest in this connection. Many of these schools not only teach German exclusively but employ historically misleading textbooks which foster German instead of American patriotism and which even offer the student German instead of American patriotic songs. German instead of American loyalty is indirectly if not directly taught every day, and this is all a part of the German propaganda so long and so persistently forwarded in this country. Prof. Sperry of Syracuse University, after careful investigation, declared some time since that 5,000 German schools in foreign countries and 491 in the United States were being directly influenced from Berlin in the interests of German propaganda.

Herman Hagedorn, a loyal German-American, recently pointed out in a German magazine an article discussing plans for the future conquest of the world along precisely such lines as these. He is thus quoted: "When this war is over Germany intends to resume her campaign for the conversion of America to Germanism. She intends to use the German-American societies, the German churches, the American schools as she has used them in the past. If she can, she intends to split the American people into German-Americans and other Americans, so that, when she wants to strike at us again, we may be weakened by division from within." This writer declares that "national education" of Germans born in foreign lands is one of Germany's most important tasks. This thing is not merely a scheme of the future but an active propaganda of the past and even of the present. Those in charge of public education in the United States should therefore look the facts squarely in the face and consider the question of the undue use of German in the schools with this unquestionable effort to teach disloyalty and breed sedition.

The very gratifying success attained in these examinations by young people who had absolutely no office experience to their credit, and whose special preparation was confined solely to that received at the Moran Business School—and their prompt appointment to high governmental positions—furnishes conclusive proof of the thoroughness and unquestioned supremacy of the civil service courses conducted by this institution. Three of the 1917-1918 class are now conducted by 1918 class are now in the employ of the government at Washington, D. C., at salaries as follows: One at $1,000, one at $1,100, and one at $1,200.

1. Will you tell me what the new ruling is about the percentage of wheat substitute to be used in bread?
Victory Breads % of Substitute
Bread and rolls 25%
Sweet yeast dough goods 33 1-3
Cakes 15
Biscuits (cookies) and pie 33 1-3
Cakes 33 1-3
Pie 33 1-3
Fried cakes 33 1-3
Pastry 33 1-3
Batter cakes, quick breads, etc 66 2-3
2. What are officially considered considered substitutes for wheat?
Bran, shorts, middlings, corn flour, cornmeal, edible cornstarch, hominy, corn grits, barley flour, rolled oats, oatmeal, rice, rice flour, buckwheat flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour, tapioca flour, mfls, kaffir and feterita flours and meals, soy bean meal, peanut meal, cassava flour, taro flour, banana flour and other products of similar nature.

Graham and whole wheat flours are not substitutes. Rye flour and rye meal are not substitutes. Rye bread must contain 25% substitute. Potatoes may be used as a substitute but on account of the moisture content, four pounds will be considered equivalent to one pound of any other substitute.

3. When milk costs 12 cents a quart why is it considered a cheap food?
Milk has increased in cost much less than most other foods, so that it is relatively cheap at the present time. It is decidedly the cheapest form of animal food, and because of its richness in minerals, especially lime, and in other building materials, milk would be cheap even at fifteen or twenty cents a quart.

Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Roadster, 1918, 100 h. p., 100 m. p. h., 100 m. p. h.

—in the attitude of an investment

The Chevrolet Motor Company considers a motor car purchase from the standpoint that it is an important investment.

They have built with this idea in mind, with a full realization that the car itself must make the distinction between investment and liability.

The Chevrolet is an investment, not alone because of its moderate price, but because of the little it costs after its purchase. In low upkeep especially, does the price of the Chevrolet qualify as an investment rich in economical service returns.

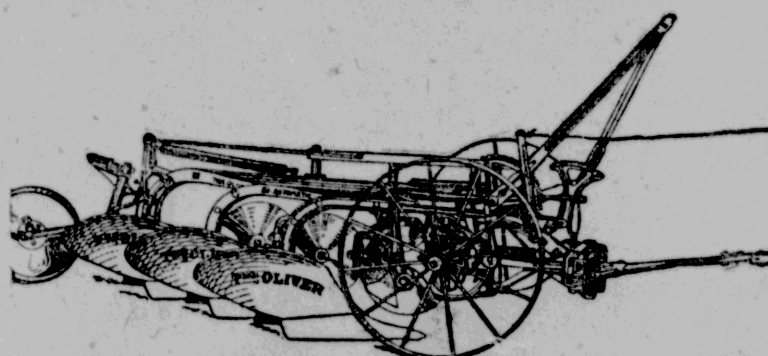

That the Chevrolet has become a world-wide favorite is not haphazard success, but the merited result of a conscientious manufacturing policy.

It is a common thing for a Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Roadster to travel twenty-five miles on a gallon of gasoline.

It's a pleasure to demonstrate a Chevrolet for you. May we do it?

BIG RED CROSS MEETING TUESDAY

On Tuesday evening of next week, May 14th, there will be held at the high school auditorium one of the biggest Red Cross mass meetings ever held in this city and one which should crowd the auditorium to the doors. The chief speaker will be Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard, who was the first president of the Surgical Dressings Committee, an international organization, and who has already spoken in Kingston, holding the closest attention and charming a large meeting called together by the circles of Mercy.

Mrs. Willard has twice visited Europe since the beginning of the war, being in France in 1915 and in 1916. In 1917 she spent five months in the war zones of England, France, Italy and Belgium and has the most unusual opportunities offered her for visiting hospitals and seeing the Red Cross activities of the Allied countries.

While in France Mrs. Willard was received at Verdun, and while in Italy was accorded permission to spend a month in the war zone. She was in Borst under bombardment, while shells were bursting over the city and watched the battle between the Austrians and the Italians from a distant hill. Mrs. Willard was received by the Queen of Belgium at La Panne and had a most interesting experience at the seaside palace of the king. In England and Boulogne, through the courtesy of the British Red Cross, Mrs. Willard had occasion to study the entire system of caring for the wounded, including the transportation facilities from the front, across the channel to the hospitals in London.

In addition to all this, Mrs. Willard recounts most vividly her experiences, captivating her audience, and her many friends and their friends in Kingston will be exceedingly glad of the opportunity of hearing her again.

Another notable speaker on Tuesday evening will be Supreme Court Judge Nichols, a most convincing speaker.

Further announcement of this meeting will appear in Monday evening's Freeman.

PREPARING FOR NEW REGISTRANTS

Only Those Who Have Attained 21 Years Since June 5, 1917—Local Boards For Divisions 1 and 2 Formulate Plans For Registration June 5.

The local boards for Divisions No. 1 and 2 of Ulster county are preparing for a busy session on June 5 to take care of the registration of those men who have attained the age of 21 years since June 5, 1917.

Men from Division No. 1 will have two districts in which to register. Those living below the West Shore railroad will register at the armory; the men living above the West Shore will register at the office of the local board for Division No. 1 in the Ulster county surrogate's office.

Officials of local board for Division No. 2 have not completed their registration plans yet, but they will be announced soon. The registration presents a big problem to this division because of the large territory this division takes in.

Division No. 2 will have at least three and possibly four places of registration.

The town of Rosendale will be divided into registration districts to facilitate the registration June 5. Definite plans will be announced later.

VICTROLA RECORDS WANTED AT CAMP

The Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary meeting held on Friday afternoon at Association Hall called out some sixty members of the organization. The two-piece a day committee reported to date a collection of $448.95. The program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Putnam Cady, who first told most interestingly and realistically of her recent visit to Camp Mills, where Dr. Cady is located, carrying on the Y. M. C. A. work there. Not only did Mrs. Cady describe the work and life of the men but their keen appreciation of all that the Y. M. C. A. is doing for them. Dr. Cady sent back one request—gifts of Victrola records. Therefore all persons having Victrola records to send out to the men at the Camp Mills Y. M. C. A. but are asked to leave the same with Miss Seabolt at the E. Winter's Sons' store on John street. Then came the musical part of the program which included a delightful piano duet, "Serenade," by H. Hoffman, played by the Ford Hummel and Mrs. Cady. This was followed by reading, "Nanny's Picnic," given by Mrs. H. P. van Wagenen. The program closed with two charming piano selections, played by Mrs. Cady: a Brocton, Emil Sjogren; b. Recense, Alex. Ilynski. During the afternoon plans for next year's work in the boys' department were carefully considered.

MADE COMFORTABLE BY COMFORT KIT

The Home Defense Committee of Ulster county, has received the following letter from France written by E. J. Gildersleeve:

"I have received the soldier's comfort kit sent by the committee to me and I wish to thank you very much for it. It is superior to the Red Cross bag which many have received, because it is larger and I can get all my personal equipment into it and it makes it much more handy to carry. I have no way to know how or in what way you found my name and regiment, but will say you certainly made one fellow very comfortable with the contents of the kit bag. We so far as the regiment is concerned, have had no casualties as yet, but most of us have been under shell fire, and in some interesting places. One again I thank you for the valuable present."

Gildersleeve is a member of Company E, 14th Reg., R. Y.

The Long Arm of Mercy

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The Red Cross is the Long Arm of Mercy.

It is the Kindness of Mankind—organized.

In Man is an Angel and a Devil, a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. The Red Cross is the Good, aroused, energized to thwart the Bad.

It is the best antidote we know to the bane of war.

There are other Charities, more or less helpful. The Red Cross is the mightiest of all Charities, the Love and Pity of all men made supremely efficient.

If, as Emerson said, "sensible men and conscientious men all over the world are of one religion," this is the expression of that religion.

The Red Cross is Humanity united in Service.

It asks no man's opinion; only his need.

Black or White, Friend or Foe, to the Red Cross there is no difference; it only asks: "Who is Suffering?" And to him it goes.

The Red Cross is so Efficient that Governments recognize it; so Pure in its purpose that whoever wishes well his fellow men, desires to help it; so Clean in its administration that the most suspicious can find no fault in it.

The Red Cross not only seeks to alleviate the cruelties of War; it is the expression of those human sentiments that some day will put an end to War.

It is the impulse of Love, striving to overcome the impulse of Hate.

It is Mercy's co-operation struggling against War's rivalries.

It is the one Society in which every Man, Woman and Child should be enrolled; for it knows no sects, no prejudices, no protesting opinion; the human being does not live that does not feel that the starving should be fed, the sick tended and the wounded healed.

Majestic and divine is this Long Arm of Mercy; it finds the fallen on the battlefield, it brings the nurse and the physician to the victim in the hospital; it leads the weeping orphan to a home; it feeds the starving, cares for the pest-smitten whom all others abandon, and pours the oil of Help and Pity into the bitter wounds of the World.

Where a volcano has wrought desolation in Japan, or a Flood in China, or a Hurricane in Cuba, or a Famine in India, or a Plague in Italy, or ravaging Armies in Poland, Serbia or Belgium, there flies the Red Cross, the Angel of God whom the fury of men cannot banish from the Earth; and to the Ends of the Earth, over all the ways of the Seven Seas, wherever is Human Misery, there is extended, to bless and to heal, its Long Arm of Mercy.

THE SCARLET CROSS

By Margaret Widdemer
Of the Vigilantes.

What is it that you do today, who lift the Scarlet Cross?
For all the withered world is down in ruin and in loss,

And all the world hears clashing sword, and hears no sound less plain—
What can you do who lift the Cross, but heal to fight again?

We guard the women left alone, heartbroken for their dead,
We save the children wandering where all save Fear has fled,

We raise again the broken towns swept down by shot and shell,
We heal again the broken souls hopeless from learning Hell—

Oh, they who saw but Grief and Hate see now our red sign plain—
We save the sad world's soul alive that War had nearly slain!

Bombardments Cannot Drive This Woman Back

She Thinks Coffee for Soldiers More Important Than Safety.

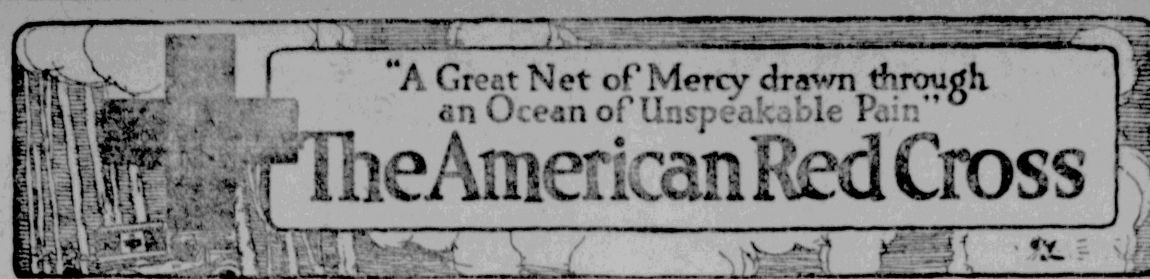

The following extracts are taken from a letter written by a Red Cross Canteen worker, Helen McElhone, an American woman and college graduate now located in a district almost constantly under bombardment:

"Foyer des Allies, 'Barle-Duc.

"Things look very black to me. I am discouraged at the big outlook of affairs and also at my small doings, but it may be the blackness that comes before dawn. Let us hope so. Our men certainly need help now as much as the police. I am beginning to see those who have been at the front. In fact, I am beginning to see some of the results of this life. They are sick and homesick, and worse things have happened to them. Several have said: 'All we ask is to get to the front and do what we have to do. Anything is better than this life. . . . This morning we had more Americans than I have seen before at one time. One came up to me here as I was drawing coffee from a big marmite as fast as I could fill cups and, pointing to his pipe, said, 'Tobac, tobac.' I said, 'Do you want some tobacco?' He seemed stunned for a moment and then said: 'Do you know it nearly gave me a fit to hear you speak English. I haven't heard a woman speak English in five months.' He said he had been walking about in the cold since four o'clock last night. He couldn't find a hotel or a bright light because, of course, everything is closed and darkened on account of the bombardments. . . . The Americans are very fond of ham sandwiches. They eat much more than the French soldiers, and when they first came in and ordered six eggs apiece it caused consternation throughout the land. The funniest thing of all is to hear the Sammies grandly urging these wealthy English girls to keep the change—oh, keep the change! . . . We start the day at five and work continuously until nine, when three fresh cantinieres relieve us. At five we go on for the evening shift from five to eight, and it is the most exciting and exhausting of the shifts. There is a certain time when they come down on us like a flood, eight or ten deep around the counter and three or four hundred all together in this little room, as eager and tired as schoolboys."

The foregoing letter indicates that our soldiers look to the Red Cross Canteen as an oasis in a desert. They would not have it if it were not for your Red Cross.

The American Red Cross

The Call From No Man's Land

The Spending of Your Hundred Million Dollars

Busiest Budget in All the World Is a Red Cross War Fund—Every Dollar Spent Alleviates Misery.

By WILL PAYNE

Last summer the public subscribed a hundred million dollars to the Red Cross. At the latest statement over eighty-five millions of it had been appropriated.

Where has it gone? you ask. For many months the world has been spending over a hundred million dollars a day for the destruction of life, limb and means of subsistence. Call up what you have read about the war's devastation. The American Red Cross' enormous job is to do whatever it can to alleviate that—not after the war, not after governments have deliberated and resolved; but right now, at the minute, on the spot. It's amazing that it has done so much with so little money.

Last autumn the Italian army fell back precipitately. On your war map that meant rubbing out one line and drawing another half an inch further south. Over there in Italy it meant thousands of poor families fleeing from their homes. Major Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner in Europe, rushed to the scene and wired: "Indescribably pathetic conditions exist, involving separation of mothers and children, cold, hunger, disease, death." In November and December the American Red Cross appropriated three million dollars for relief there—a large sum, yet small in comparison with the need.

Condensed Milk for Children.

Soldiers are only a part of the Red Cross' work—probably the smaller part. Every instant, somewhere in the vast flood of destruction, a hand reaches up in appeal. It is pretty apt to be a child's hand or a woman's. When the Red Cross commission reached Petrograd it asked the government, "What is the most urgent thing?" The government replied: "We must get condensed milk for the little children here." The commission got the milk. At one spot in France farm work was stopped by lack of horses. That meant more hunger. The Red Cross got in a big tractor and set it to plowing for the community.

There are a million needs. Cold, wet and the deadly physical strain of the trenches undermine men's constitutions. A frightful scourge of tuberculosis has developed in France. The Red Cross has built sanatoria, provided over a thousand beds and nurses.

Thirty Millions for France.

I have here a big sheaf of sheets filled with figures. One item is thirteen million and odd dollars—the amount which, up to that time, had gone to the local chapters of the Red Cross in the United States for local relief. Twenty-five per cent of the money subscribed through the chapters eventually goes that way.

Over thirty millions have been appropriated for work in France. Here is a million and a quarter—in round numbers—for military hospitals and dispensaries; over a million and a half for canteen service, where French and American soldiers, relieved from the trenches, can get good food, a cot, a bath, and have their clothes disinfected—and so go on for their brief holiday camp, rested, nourished. There are over three millions for hospital supply service; half a million for rest stations for American troops.

Aid of refugees—eleven thousand families—accounts for nearly three million dollars; care and prevention of tuberculosis takes over two millions; care of helpless children over a million; relief work in six devastated districts, including care of five thousand families and sufficient reconstruction to make houses habitable, required over two millions.

Misery on an Unparalleled Scale.

These are all large items; but the Red Cross is grappling with human misery on an unparalleled scale—a world of it. The item for relief of the blind amounts to four hundred thousand dollars. The dispensary service sends supplies to more than thirty-four hundred hospitals. The Red Cross receives and distributes more than two hundred tons of supplies daily at Paris. For this distribution and its other work it requires a big transportation service of motors and trucks. This transportation service has cost a million and a half, and its operating expenses run to a million dollars.

Every dollar it spends means misery alleviated. Its work is building abroad for the United States the best good will in this world. It is building the best good will among ourselves. Whatever else the war may produce, we shall be proud of our Red Cross.

I want to say to you that no other organization since the world began has ever done such great constructive work with the efficiency, dispatch and understanding, often under adverse circumstances, that has been done by the American Red Cross in France.

THE MARY POWELL IS SPICK AND SPAN

Famous Old Queen of Hudson River Receives Her Annual Coat of White Paint—Albany Starts Season July 6—Day Line Opens May 24.

The Mary Powell, the old Queen of the Hudson, now looks spick and span in her new coat of white paint. The crew have just completed scrubbing and painting her, and she is in tip-top shape for the season. She will be inspected on Monday by Inspectors Keller and Gail. The Queen, with the Albany, is at the Sunflower Dock in the Rondout creek, where both have been berthed for the winter.

The Albany has also been overhauled and repainted and placed in shape for the opening of the season. The Albany was recently inspected. She will start navigation between Rondout and New York on July 6. This is considerably later than usual.

The other boats of the Hudson River Day Line will open the season between Albany and Kingston, making all stops at Kingston Point, on May 24.

It is said that the reason for the late start is due to the fact that the government has requested that 30 per cent of the coal usually used during a season be conserved.

IT'S UNCLE SAM TALKING:

"I suggest to you, patriotic Liberty Bond owners of New York State, when you clip your coupons due on May 15, that you put the money into War-Savings Stamps. Let your interest earn interest and help win the war. This means more for you in the end and victory for us all now."

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Sunday.
Breakfast—Stewed apricots, pearl barley with top milk, baked potatoes, cheese sauce, coffee.
Dinner—Hamburg balls, parsley butter, Boston browned potatoes, scalloped corn and tomatoes, frozen custard with canned or stewed fruit. Supper—Creamed potatoes, deviled eggs with dressed lettuce, gingered apples.

"May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal."
Milk for the children to drink at each meal.
Make Sunday's meals involve as little energy as possible. The Hamburg balls can be shaped and made ready for cooking the day before and the dessert cooked and ready for the freezer. Deviled eggs for supper are just as good prepared on Saturday and put on ice, and so are the apples for dessert. In these days of extra burdens, Sunday should be a real rest day.

Boston Browned Potatoes.
Wash and peel 6 medium sized potatoes. Cut in four equal parts. Place in a shallow tin greased, and bake 1/2 to 3/4 of an hour in a hot oven. When done, pour some meat gravy over them and serve alone or around the meat, on a hot platter. Serve at once.

Dressed Lettuce.
Wash crisp lettuce leaves, dry lightly between towels, roll closely and cut into shreds. Prepare French dressing from 4 tablespoons of oil, 2 tablespoons of vinegar, salt and paprika, well beaten together. Mix enough of this dressing with the lettuce to make it glossy. Arrange the lettuce in nests on a platter and place two halves of eggs into each nest.

Gingered Apples.
Six medium sized apples, 1/4 cup honey, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon chopped ginger root, candied. Wash and core the apples, leaving them whole, and arrange in a baking dish. Mix the honey, hot water and ginger root together, and pour around the apple.

Monday.
Breakfast—Baked apples, pinhead oatmeal, with top milk, corn oysters, coffee.
Lunch or Supper—Cream of tomato soup, potato toast, cabbage and apple salad.
Dinner—Stuffed onions (with left-over meat and breakfast cereal), baked mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, maple tortia.

"May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal."
Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

Whether these days are no longer obligatory, because the conscience of the patriotic American makes every day a wheelless day and likewise every day a potato day. There are thirty millions bushels of spuds which will go to waste unless they are used by June 15. That means that consumption must be increased 35 per cent. Make the abundance of potatoes serve the shortage of wheat—and be thankful for potatoes.

Corn Oysters.
To 1 cup of canned corn or stewed dried corn, add 1 well beaten egg, 1/2 cup mashed potatoes, season lightly with salt and pepper. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered griddle. When brown on one side, turn and brown on the other side. These should be made small in order to turn easily.

Maple Tortia.
Two eggs, 1/2 cup maple sugar, 1 cup cornstarch, 2 tablespoons barley flour, 1/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Beat the yolks of the eggs until light, and add the sugar, beating until all is dissolved. Beat the whites until very stiff, and fold into the yolks. Mix and sift the dry ingredients several times, and very gently and gradually fold into the egg mixture. Pour into a greased pan and bake in a very slow oven about 35 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 11, 1918.

There is an old story of a white man and an American Indian, going hunting together, killed a turkey and a buzzard. When the game was to be divided the white man said: "I'll take the turkey and you take the buzzard, or you take the buzzard and I'll take the turkey." Whereupon the Indian ventured to observe that there was no turkey for him in either case. This story is called to mind by the Kaiser's magnanimous demand of the Bolsheviks that they deliver up to him able-bodied German prisoners of war in exchange for diseased and crippled Russian prisoners in Germany. The Kaiser is determined to have all the turkey there is and will refuse to be denied—until somebody comes forward strong enough to force him to eat crow.

WE MUST PAY THE PRICE.

The figures for war finance take one's breath away. Says the author of the income tax: "Despite the prediction of experts four years ago that it would be utterly impossible for the most important commercial nations to finance a war of this magnitude for any but a very brief time, the great expenditures have piled up in excess of $100,000,000,000—a cost to every man, woman and child on the globe of more than $60." Not even in the warring countries have every man, woman and child contributed their per capita share, let alone throughout the world, yet the stupendous sum has been raised, the more interest on which, if levied as a 10% tax on each inhabitant of the globe, would be one cent per working day per person. Where have the hundreds of billions come from? Whence will come the twice, three or 10 times a hundred billions that may be necessary to finish the revolting but imperatively necessary business. Any amount necessary will be raised, of course, because it will have to be. Liberty has always come high, and now that scientific barbarians with a dream of world-domination in their stubborn Teutonic heads are running amuck it comes higher than ever before. But we must pay the price whatever it be; for if the scientific savages are allowed to tread the life out of liberty, the world will become a desolation literally unfit to live in.

T THEM AND PLANT THEM

We are used to eat potatoes very often, though for a while, not only in order to save bread or wheat but because the market is full of last year's potatoes and the old potatoes ought to be eaten before the new ones come on the ground. In other words, we need to help the overstocked potato stores and dealers as well as to get the potatoes for shipment to our allies. So far as possible the request ought to be complied with and to do so will involve no hardship, for the white potato is an excellent staple food and can be served in many ways. Fried potatoes, stewed potatoes, baked potatoes, potatoes in soup, in hash, and browned in the pan—the list is almost endless. To eat another potato instead of another slice of bread will neither put a strain upon your palate nor deny your body the nourishment it needs or craves, and it will help the great cause.

But while we are patriotically eating up the present stock of potatoes, let us see to it that there shall be another large stock to be eaten up at this time next year. Let us not make the mistake of planting a smaller crop. Last year at this time potatoes were scarce enough to be worth almost their weight in gold. Then the country went to work and planted a bumper crop, thus providing our present abundance. Many farmers are now likely to cut their acreage, but let the amateur gardeners and back-lot planters again make sure of a good acreage of this valuable and easily-grown crop; for, if they do not, next spring may find them once more paying sinful prices for a staff of life. Eat all the potatoes you can and plant all you can, too.

DISLOYALTY IN THE SCHOOLS.

The arguments of some of the advocates of teaching German in our schools very much resemble the intellectual contortions of those insensate persons who, excited over the arrest of Dr. Karl Muck, indignantly contend that art is above patriotism.

The teaching of German, as of French and Spanish, for scientific or other definite purposes is not the question. German may well be taught for such purposes under special conditions, and it ought to be taught very industriously to those preparing to employ it with a view to a better understanding of and for the acquisition of important information about our enemy. The real question at issue is the teaching of German as a regular course in the lower schools, often to the exclusion of other languages.

Senator Young of Iowa has shown very clearly that actual disloyalty is promoted in the German belts of the Northwest if not in the Northwest generally by the use of German as the exclusive language in the lower schools. The revelations of Mr. Metcalf as to the disloyalty of the German schools in Nebraska are also of interest in this connection. Many of these schools not only teach German exclusively but employ historically misleading textbooks which foster German instead of American patriotism and which even offer the student German instead of American patriotic songs. German instead of American loyalty is indirectly if not directly taught every day, and this is all a part of the German propaganda so long and so persistently forwarded in this country. Prof. Sperry of Syracuse University, after careful investigation, declared some time since that 5,000 German schools in foreign countries and 431 in the United States were being directly influenced from Berlin in the interests of German propaganda.

Herman Hagelorn, a loyal German-American, recently pointed out in a German magazine an article discussing plans for the future conquest of the world along precisely such lines as these. He is thus quoted: "When this war is over Germany intends to resume her campaign for the conversion of America to Germanism. She intends to use the German-American societies, the German-language newspapers, the German churches, the American schools as she has used them in the past. If she can, she intends to split the American people into German-Americans and other Americans, so that, when she wants to strike at us again, we may be weakened by division from within." This writer declares that "national education" of Germans born in foreign lands is one of Germany's most important tasks. This thing is not merely a scheme of the future but an active propaganda of the past and even of the present. Those in charge of public education in the United States should therefore look the facts squarely in the face and consider the question of the undue use of German in the schools with this unquestionable effort to teach disloyalty and breed sedition.

MORAN BUSINESS SCHOOL.

Interesting list of business positions. Accepted by Graduates.

A great many Kingstonians will be interested in the following excellent office positions accepted by a number of exceptionally bright and efficient young people who received their special business training at Moran Business School.

Miss Lillie V. Agnew, a recent graduate of the stenographic department has been engaged as stenographer and typist by the American Granite Lumber Corporation, Port Jervis, N. Y.

Edwin Phelan of the evening sessions, has accepted an important government position in Virginia.

Miss Frances M. Costello of the stenographic department left recently for Bridgeport, Conn., to accept a position with a large corporation in that city.

Miss Ella Delaney of Glasco, N. Y., went to Newark, N. J., last week, where she has secured a good business position with a well known firm.

Everett Smith of the business department, entered the first grade clerical examination, U. S. civil service, in New York city recently. He is at present employed at Caldwell, N. J.

Miss Winifred Mooney of the combined course and Miss Florence Luby of the stenographic department, have been placed as stenographers and typists by the Burnet Company, 69 South street, New York city.

Miss Anna Butler has resigned her position as stenographer with the Campbell Motor Car Co., to accept a similar position with the Cornell Steamboat Co., Ferry street.

Miss Mabel Nestell is giving satisfaction in her new position as stenographer and clerical assistant with the Canfield Supply Co.

James O'Leary an experienced graduate has accepted a high grade position with the American Can Co., Jersey City, N. J.

As previously announced the next United States civil-service examination for clerk with the knowledge of stenography and typewriting will be held at the court house on Friday, May 17th. The very gratifying success attained in these examinations by young people who had absolutely no office experience to their credit, and whose special preparation was confined solely to that received at the Moran Business School—and their phenomenal positions—furnishes conclusive proof of the thoroughness and unquestioned supremacy of the civil service courses conducted by this institution. Three of the 1917-1918 class are now in the employ of the government at Washington, D. C.; at salaries as follows: One at $1,000, one at $1,100, and one at $1,200.

FOOD QUESTION BOX.

These are some of the questions women are asking on food problems. They are answered by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture through the Ulster County Conservation Agent. Address inquiries to the Food Question Box, Miss L. M. Stuart, No. 74 John street, Kingston, New York.

1. Will you tell me what the new ruling is about the percentage of wheat substitute to be used in bread?

Victory Breads % of Substitute
Bread and rolls 25%
Sweet yeast dough goods 33 1-2
Crackers 15
Biscuits (cookies) and ice cream cones 33 1-3
Cakes 23 1-3
Pies 33 1-3
Fried cakes 33 1-3
Pastry 33 1-3
Batter cakes, quick breads, etc. 66 2-3

2. What are officially considered considered substitutes for wheat?

Bran, shorts, middlings, corn flour, cornmeal, edible cornstarch, hominy, corn grits, barley flour, rolled oats, oatmeal, rice, rice flour, buckwheat flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour, tapioca flour, milo, kafir and feterita flours and meals, soya bean meal, peanut meal, cassava flour, taro flour, banana flour and other products of similar nature.

Graham and whole wheat flours are not substitutes. Rye flour and rye meal are not substitutes. Rye bread must contain 25% substitute. Potatoes may be used as a substitute, but on account of the moisture content, four pounds will be considered equivalent to one pound of any other substitute.

3. When milk costs 12 cents a quart why is it considered a cheap food?
Milk has increased in cost much less than most other foods, so that it is relatively cheap at the present time. It is decidedly the cheapest form of animal food, and because of its richness in milk solids, especially lime, and in other building materials, milk would be cheap even at fifteen or twenty cents a quart.

—in the attitude of an investment

The Chevrolet Motor Company considers a motor car purchase from the standpoint that it is an important investment.

They have built with this idea in mind, with a full realization that the car itself must make the distinction between investment and liability.

The Chevrolet is an investment, not alone because of its moderate price, but because of the little it costs after its purchase. In low upkeep especially, does the price of the Chevrolet qualify as an investment rich in economical service returns.

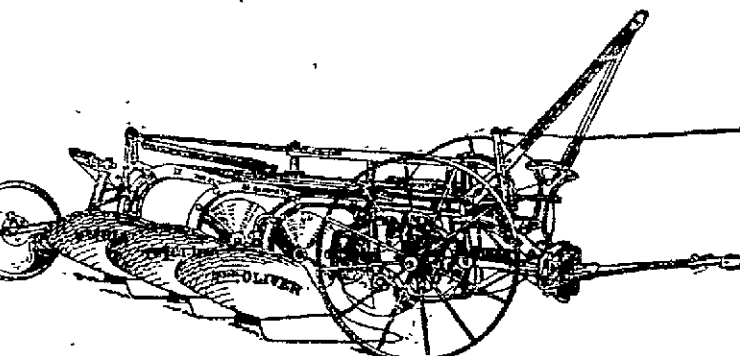

That the Chevrolet has become a world-wide favorite is not haphazard success, but the merited result of a conscientious manufacturing policy.

It is a common thing for a Chevrolet "Four-Ninety" Roadster to travel twenty-five miles on a gallon of gasoline.

It's a pleasure to demonstrate a Chevrolet for you. May we do it?

Literary Information Wanted.

Sir:—I've got to find out who wrote "Life on the Raging Canal" and where a copy of it can be obtained. The reason I am after the information, which some of your readers may be able to give me, is because James Edward Kelly, the sculptor a warm friend of mine, has heard me talk of the history of the time and time again, and the one question that he almost daily puts to me is: "Have you found out who wrote 'Life on the Raging Canal'?" He says I ought to know because I told him that I worked on the canal towing boats, and knew how to snub a boat through a lock. Please get your canal historians on the job and make me happy.

TREE EXPERT IS COMING LATER

B. P. W. Notified that State Will Send Man Here About May 26—
Sidewalks Ordered Laid—Other Business Transacted.

Mayor Canfield reported at the special meeting of the board of public works held Friday afternoon that he had received a communication from the state conservation commission that L. D. Cox would come to Kingston about May 26. It is understood that Mr. Cox when he reaches the city will go over the work already done by Tree Expert Edwin Burman who is employed by the board, and who has submitted a lengthy report which the board filed until it could receive the report of another expert before taking any action.

Commissioner Burgevin reported that the consistory of the First Dutch Church complained of the street cans, in which the street sweepings are placed, being placed on the church property, and asked that the cans be removed. It was referred to Superintendent Van Keuren.

The board placed an order with John A. Mayer for six swings. Five of the swings will be installed at Kingston Point Park and one at Forsyth Park.

Secretary Linson was instructed to notify Rose to lay a sidewalk in front of Nos. 93-95 Highland avenue; Catherine Clark to lay walk in front of 191-197 Highland avenue; and Louisa Bailey to lay sidewalk in front of property on Tremper avenue, near O'Neil street. He was also instructed to notify the following to relay sidewalks: Congregation Agudas Achaim, 21-27 Abbel street; Julius Klein, 29-31 Abbel street; Eliza Hollingsworth, 30-32 Abbel street; and Margaret Kerr, 36-38 Abbel street.

As told in The Freeman Friday, the music box at Kingston Point Park will be laid on the shore and some real music by a brass band will be substituted.

The board then adjourned.

MEASLES EPIDEMIC
SHOWS NO WANING

Friday twenty-five more cases of measles were reported to the board of health. At the office of the board this morning it was stated that many of the cases being reported are secondary cases. But that was meant that in families having several children, additional members of the family had been taken ill with the disease. Miss Hannah Cunningham, the trained nurse from the state department, and Dr. Laidlaw of the state department, are in Kingston helping out the local board.

With the co-operation of the residents of the city it is expected that the epidemic will be checked. In cases where the signs placed on the quarantined houses are blown down the board states it is the duty of the resident whose house is quarantined to replace the sign, or if unable to do so to notify the board of health immediately and another sign will be placed there.

COMFORT KITS
PRESENTED FRIDAY

The fourteen men from Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county who entrained here this morning for Fort Slocum reported at the office of Local Board No. 1 at the Ulster county surrogate's office Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock, were inducted in the military service of the United States, after which they were presented with their Comfort Kits by the Ulster County Home Defense Committee, and a sweater, scarf, helmet, wrist-lets, socks, etc., by the Red Cross. The men were in the best of spirits and seemed to be glad of the opportunity of getting in the great fight for democracy.

Samuel Stern, secretary of the local board of Division 1, made a brief but eloquent speech to them. He said that we are fighting not only for our own freedom and in the cause of democracy, but also in order that the world at large may enjoy these privileges and if the German people could realize this they would hold a different attitude toward us. He thought that some day the Germans would see us in the right light.

He reminded the boys that the folks at home would be constantly thinking of them, and that the boys ought not to forget the folks. He urged the boys to send a postal home every day, if possible. He also told them that they ought to take out as much insurance as they could afford. The government rates are very low.

All the men were present when the roll was called. Harry Richter was named captain of the men of Division No. 1, and he named John James Norton his aid. Thomas P. McCullough was put in charge of Division 2 men, and he named John P. Bostel as his assistant.

SALE OF STAMPS BY INSURANCE AGENTS

Companies and Agents Aid in Patriotic Service by Donating Their Services in Sale of War Savings Stamps.

Insurance companies have not bought war savings or thrift stamps, as the report of Senator Tully's address at the war savings stamps rally at the high school auditorium on Thursday would seem to indicate, but instead the big insurance companies have promised the government that they will sell through their agents war savings stamps to a certain amount. The largest amount thus promised to the government to be disposed of by any insurance company is thirty-five million dollars. The companies sell these stamps through their agents to the public, and in this way the agents form the strongest kind of league for the encouragement of thrift and the sale of stamps by which the government will benefit. The services of the companies and their agents are donated to the government in the sale of stamps. The companies themselves have bought Liberty Loan Bonds of all issues, not only out of patriotism but also realizing fully that there is no better investment for the money which eventually will be paid to the beneficiaries of their policy holders.

USE SHOT GUNS
URGES BRINNIE

His Suggestion to Secretary of War Baker for Way to Fight Germans Has Received Consideration.

Corporation Counsel William D. Brinnier, Sr., recently wrote a letter to Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, suggesting that some of our soldiers be equipped with shotguns, loaded with buck shot. Mr. Brinnier's letter and the reply to the same are as follows:

April 27th, 1918.
Hon. Newton D. Baker,
Secretary of War,
Washington, D. C.

My Dear Mr. Baker:
I would like to suggest, as our troops are now fighting in close range, that every fifth or sixth man on the line have repeating shot guns loaded with buck shot which I think would be very effective in disposing of the enemy, as you know the buck shot would distribute and strike in more than one place. Of course this is only a suggestion from a civilian, but we must win this war whether it is cruel or not to kill with buck shot.

Respectfully,
WM. D. BRINNIE.

War Department,
The Adjutant General's Office,
Washington.

May 9, 1918.

Mr. William D. Brinnier,
Office of the Corporation Counsel,
City of Kingston, New York.
Referring to your letter of recent date, in which you suggest a method to assist in winning the war, you are informed that your suggestion has received due consideration.

The War Department wishes to thank you for your patriotic interest in the matter.

Very truly yours,
ROY A. HILL,
Adjutant General.

CEDARCLIFF GIRL
HAS DISAPPEARED

Search is being made in Newburgh for Olga Froemel, a pretty, 15 year old girl, who left her home in Cedarcliff, on Tuesday, and who is known to have been in Newburgh on that day. The fear of the girl's parents is that she met Peter Radish, an Austrian, 21 years old, with whom she had acquaintance. The girl is the daughter of Rudolph Froemel, who formerly resided on Renwick street, Newburgh, but who latterly has been conducting a store in Cedarcliff. The Froemel store is quite a gathering place, and among those who frequented it was Radish. He and the girl soon showed a mutual interest and she was engaged in teaching him to speak English. He left there about a week ago. It is known he went to Newburgh and while there received letters from the girl. He has left Newburgh but his destination is not known, and the fear is that the girl joined him in that city and has gone with him. The Newburgh authorities are looking for the couple and a general alarm has been sent along the Hudson river.

THE FRANKLIN SEDAN

A Fine Car That is Also Economical

THE marked trend in automobile buying is toward the Sedan type. And the decided trend in Sedan buying is toward the Franklin.

The Sedan type, properly designed, is the logical car for year-round use; and the Franklin is the perfection of the Sedan type. Its Wide Window feature, by removing window posts, gives unrestricted range of vision, and results in the removal of the usual "pent-up" feeling.

In the Franklin Sedan, Franklin Scientific Light Weight and Flexible Construction give the same ease of riding and handling, the same ability to run over any road for any distance, and the same economy that is in all Franklin types.

That is the reason why you will find in the Franklin Sedan, not only enclosed car comfort but a consistent delivery of 18-20 Miles to the gallon of gasoline—instead of 8.

10,000 Miles to the set of tires—instead of 5,000.

The man or woman who wants a car that combines Beauty of Appearance with Economy of Operation will find it in the Franklin Wide Window Sedan.

It is attracting a great deal of attention and is decidedly worth seeing.

BIG RED CROSS MEETING TUESDAY

On Tuesday evening of next week, May 14th, there will be held at the high school auditorium one of the biggest Red Cross mass meetings ever held in this city and one which should crowd the auditorium to the doors. The chief speaker will be Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard, who was the first president of the Surgical Dressings Committee, an international organization, and who has already spoken in Kingston, holding the closest attention and charming a large meeting called together by the circles of Mercy.

Mrs. Willard has twice visited Europe since the beginning of the war, being in France in 1915 and in 1916. In 1917 she spent five months in the war zones of England, France, Italy and Belgium and has the most unusual opportunities offered her for visiting hospitals and seeing the Red Cross activities of the Allied countries.

While in France Mrs. Willard was received at Verdun, and while in Italy was accorded permission to spend a month in the war zone. She was in Borzetta under bombardment, while shells were bursting over the city and watched the battle between the Austrians and the Italians from a distant hill. Mrs. Willard was received by the Queen of Belgium at La Panne and had a most interesting experience at the seaside palace of the king. In England and Rouen through the courtesy of the British Red Cross, Mrs. Willard had occasion to study the entire system of caring for the wounded, including the transportation facilities from the front, across the channel to the hospitals in London.

In addition to all this, Mrs. Willard recounts most vividly her experiences, captivating her audience, and her many friends and their friends in Kingston will be exceedingly glad of the opportunity of hearing her again.

Another notable speak on Tuesday evening will be Supreme Court Judge Nichols, a most convincing speaker.

Further announcement of this meeting will appear in Monday evening's Freeman.

MADE COMFORTABLE BY COMFORT KIT

The Home Defense Committee of Ulster county, has received the following letter from France written by E. J. Gildersleeve:

"I have received the soldier's comfort kit sent by the committee to me and I wish to thank you very much for it. It is superior to the Red Cross bag which many have received, because it is larger and I can get all my personal equipment into it and it makes it much more handy to carry. I have no way to know how or in what way you found my name and regiment, but will say you certainly made one fellow very comfortable with the contents of the kit bag. We, so far as the regiment is concerned, have had no casualties as yet, but most of us have been under shell fire, and in some interesting places. One again I thank you for the valuable present."

Gildersleeve is a member of Company E, 14th Reg., R. Y.

The Long Arm of Mercy

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The Red Cross is the Long Arm of Mercy.

It is the Kindness of Mankind—organized.

In Man is an Angel and a Devil, a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. The Red Cross is the Good, aroused, energized to thwart the Bad.

It is the best antidote we know to the bane of war.

There are other Charities, more or less helpful. The Red Cross is the mightiest of all Charities, the Love and Pity of all men made supremely efficient.

If, as Emerson said, "sensible men and conscientious men all over the world are of one religion," this is the expression of that religion.

The Red Cross is Humanity united in Service.

It asks no man's opinion; only his need.

Black or White, Friend or Foe, to the Red Cross there is no difference; it only asks: "Who is Suffering?" And to him it goes.

The Red Cross is so Efficient that Governments recognize it; so Pure in its purpose that whoever wishes well his fellow men, desires to help it; so Clean in its administration that the most suspicious can find no fault in it.

The Red Cross not only seeks to alleviate the cruelties of War; it is the expression of those human sentiments that some day will put an end to War.

It is the impulse of Love, striving to overcome the impulse of Hate.

It is Mercy's co-operation struggling against War's rivalries.

It is the one Society in which every Man, Woman and Child should be enrolled; for it knows no sects, no prejudices, no protesting opinion; the human being does not live that does not feel that the starving should be fed, the sick tended and the wounded healed.

Majestic and divine is this Long Arm of Mercy; it finds the fallen on the battlefield, it brings the nurse and the physician to the victim in the hospital; it leads the weeping orphan to a home; it feeds the starving, cares for the pest-stricken whom all others abandon, and pours the oil of Help and Pity into the bitter wounds of the World.

Where a volcano has wrought desolation in Japan, or a Flood in China, or a Hurricane in Cuba, or a Famine in India, or a Plague in Italy, or ravaging Armies in Poland, Serbia or Belgium, there flies the Red Cross, the Angel of God whom the fury of men cannot banish from the Earth; and to the Ends of the Earth, over all the ways of the Seven Seas, wherever is Human Misery, there is extended, to bless and to heal, its Long Arm of Mercy.

THE SCARLET CROSS

By Margaret Widdemer
Of the Vigilantes.

What is it that you do today, who lift the Scarlet Cross?
For all the withered world is down in ruin and in loss,

And all the world hears clashing sword, and hears no sound less plain—
What can you do who lift the Cross, but heal to fight again?

We guard the women left alone, heartbroken for their dead,
We save the children wandering where all save Fear has fled,

We raise again the broken towns swept down by shot and shell,
We heal again the broken souls hopeless from learning Hell—

Oh, they who saw but Grief and Hate see now our red sign plain—
We save the sad world's soul alive that War had nearly slain!

Bombardments Cannot Drive This Woman Back

She Thinks Coffee for Soldiers More Important Than Safety.

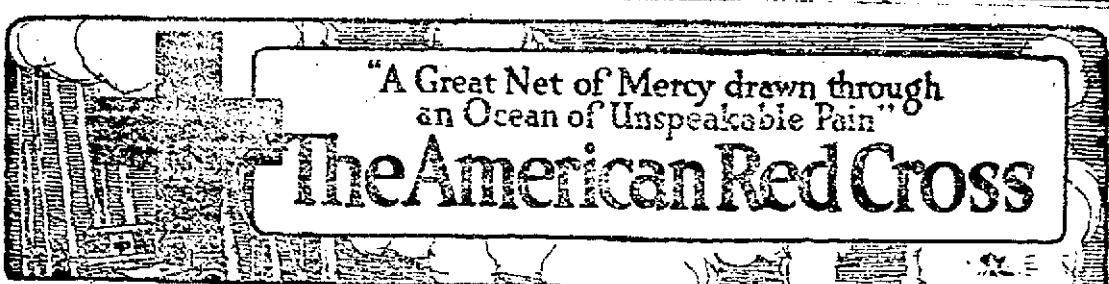

The following extracts are taken from a letter written by a Red Cross Canteen worker, Helen McElhone, an American woman and college graduate now located in a district almost constantly under bombardment:

"Foyer des Allies, 'Barle-Duc.

"Things look very black to me. I am discouraged at the big outlook of affairs and also at my small doings, but it may be the blackness that comes before dawn. Let us hope so. Our men certainly need help now as much as the pollux. I am beginning to see those who have been at the front. In fact, I am beginning to see some of the results of this life. They are sick and homesick, and worse things have happened to them. Several have said: 'All we ask is to get to the front and do what we have to do. Anything is better than this life.' This morning we had more Americans than I have seen before at one time. One came up to me here as I was drawing coffee from a big marmite as fast as I could fill cups and, pointing to his pipe, said, 'Tobac, tobac.' I said, 'Do you want some tobacco?' He seemed stunned for a moment and then said: 'Do you know it nearly gave me a fit to hear you speak English. I haven't heard a woman speak English in five months.' He said he had been walking about in the cold since four o'clock last night. He couldn't find a hotel or a bright light because, of course, everything is closed and darkened on account of the bombardments. . . . The Americans are very fond of ham sandwiches. They eat much more than the French soldiers, and when they first came in and ordered six eggs apiece it caused consternation throughout the land. The funniest thing of all is to hear the Sammies grandly urging these wealthy English girls to 'keep the change—oh, keep the change!' . . . We start the day at five and work continuously until nine, when three fresh cantinieres relieve us. At five we go on for the evening shift from five to eight, and it is the most exciting and exhausting of the shifts. There is a certain time when they come down on us like a flood, eight or ten deep around the counter and three or four hundred altogether in this little room, as eager and tired as schoolboys."

The foregoing letter indicates that our soldiers look to the Red Cross Canteen as an oasis in a desert. They would not have it if it were not for

"A Great Net of Mercy drawn through an Ocean of Unspeakable Pain"

The American Red Cross

The Call From No Man's Land

The Spending of Your Hundred Million Dollars

Busiest Budget in All the World Is a Red Cross War Fund—Every Dollar Spent Alleviates Misery.

By WILL PAYNE

Last summer the public subscribed a hundred million dollars to the Red Cross. At the latest statement over eighty-five millions of it had been appropriated.

Where has it gone? you ask. For many months the world has been spending over a hundred million dollars a day for the destruction of life, limb and means of subsistence. Call up what you have read about the war's devastation. The American Red Cross' enormous job is to do whatever it can to alleviate that—not after the war, nor after governments have deliberated and resolved; but right now, at the minute, on the spot. It's amazing that it has done so much with so little money.

Last autumn the Italian army fell back precipitately. On your war map that meant rubbing out one line and drawing another half an inch further south. Over there in Italy it meant thousands of poor families fleeing from their homes. Major Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner in Europe, rushed to the scene and wired: "Indescribably pathetic conditions exist, involving separation of mothers and children, cold, hunger, disease, death." In November, when three fresh cantinieres relieve us. At five we go on for the evening shift from five to eight, and it is the most exciting and exhausting of the shifts. There is a certain time when they come down on us like a flood, eight or ten deep around the counter and three or four hundred altogether in this little room, as eager and tired as schoolboys."

Condensed Milk for Children.

Soldiers are only a part of the Red Cross' work—probably the smaller part. Every instant somewhere in the vast food of destruction, a hand reaches up in appeal. It is pretty apt to be a child's hand or a woman's. When the Red Cross commission reached Petrograd it asked the government, "What is the most urgent thing?" The government replied: "We must get condensed milk for the little children here." The commission got the milk. At one spot in France farm work was stopped by lack of horses. That meant more hunger. The Red Cross got in a big tractor and set it to plowing for the community.

There are a million needs. Cold, wet and the deadly physical strain of the trenches undermine men's constitutions. A frightful scourge of tuberculosis has developed in France. The Red Cross has built sanatoria, provided over a thousand beds and nurses.

Thirty Millions for France.

I have here a big sheet of sheets filled with figures. One item is thirteen million and odd dollars—the amount, up to that time, had gone to the local chapters of the Red Cross in the United States for local relief. Twenty-five per cent of the money subscribed through the chapters eventually goes that way.

Over thirty millions have been appropriated for work in France. Here is a million and a quarter—in round numbers—for military hospitals and dispensaries; over a million and a half for canteen service, where French and American soldiers, relieved from the trenches, can get good food, a hot bath, and have their clothes disinfected—and so go on for their brief holiday: clean, rested, nourished. There are over three millions for hospital supply service; half a million for rest stations for American troops.

All of refugees—eleven thousand families—accounts for nearly three million dollars; care and prevention of influenza takes over two millions; care of helpless children over a million; relief work in six devastated districts, including care of five thousand families and sufficient reconstruction to make houses habitable, required over two millions.

Misery on an Unparalleled Scale. These are all large items; but the Red Cross is grappling with human misery on an unparalleled scale—a world of it. The item for relief of the blind amounts to four hundred thousand dollars. The dispensary service sends supplies to more than thirty-four hundred hospitals. The Red Cross receives and distributes more than two hundred tons of supplies daily at Paris. For this distribution and its other work it requires a big transportation service of motors and trucks. This transportation service has cost a million and a half, and its operating expenses run to a million dollars.

Every dollar it spends means misery alleviated. Its work is building abroad for the United States the best good will in this world. It is building the best good will among ourselves. Whatever else the war may produce, we shall be proud of our Red Cross.

I want to say to you that no other organization since the world began has ever done such great constructive work with the efficiency, dispatch and understanding, often under adverse circumstances, that has been done by the American Red Cross in France.

THE MARY POWELL IS SPICK AND SPAN

Famous Old Queen of Hudson Receives Her Annual Coat of White Paint—Albany Starts Season July 6—Day Line Opens May 24.

The Mary Powell, the old Queen of the Hudson, now looks spick and span in her new coat of white paint. The crew have just completed scrubbing and painting her, and she is in tip-top shape for the season she will be inspected on Monday by Inspectors Keller and Gaul. The Queen, with the Albany at the sunflower dock in the Rondout creek, where both have been berthed for the winter.

The Albany has also been overhauled and repainted and played in shape for the opening of the season. The Albany was recently inspected. She will start navigation between Rondout and New York on July 6. This is considerably later than usual.

The other boats of the Hudson River Day Line will open the season between Albany and New York, making all stops at Kingston Point, on May 24.

It is said that the reason for the late start is due to the fact that the government has requested that 20 per cent of the coal usually used during a season be conserved.

They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

that consumption must be increased 55 per cent. Make the abundance of potatoes serve the shortage of wheat—and be thankful for potatoes.

Sunday.

Breakfast—Stewed antrics, pearl barley with top milk, baked potatoes, cheese sauce, coffee.

Dinner—Hamburg balls, parsley butter, Boston browned potatoes, scalloped corn and tomatoes, frozen custard with canned or stewed fruit.

Supper—Creamed potatoes, deviled eggs with dressed lettuce, "gingered" apples.

"May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal."

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

Make Sunday's meals involve as little energy as possible. The Hamburg balls can be shaped and made ready for cooking the day before and the dessert cooked and ready for the freezer. Deviled eggs for supper are just as good prepared on Saturday and put on ice, and so are the apples for dessert. In these days of extra rations, Sunday should be a real rest day.

Two cups cold mashed potato, 1 egg, salt, pepper.

Mix the egg yolk with the potato, and beat thoroughly. Beat the egg white until stiff, and combine with the potato. Grease and lightly flour a baking tin. Shape the potato into cakes 1/2 inch thick, brush lightly with melted butter and sprinkle with flour. Bake in a hot oven until brown and dry. These may be served with butter in place of bread.

Maple Torte.

Two eggs, 1/2 cup maple sugar, 1/2 cup cornstarch, 2 tablespoons barley flour, 1/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Beat the yolks of the eggs until light, and add the sugar, beating until all is dissolved. Beat the whites until very stiff and fold into the yolks. Mix and sift the dry ingredients several times and very gently and gradually fold into the egg mixture. Pour into a greased pan and bake in a very slow oven about 35 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

The human body is kept in health by simple living, which after all is a test of fitness for success.
